

Introduction

Cameroon is a country in Western Africa that borders the Bight of Biafra. Neighboring countries include the Central African Republic, Chad, the Republic of the Congo, Equatorial Guinea, Gabon, and Nigeria. The geography of Cameroon is diverse with coastal plains in the southwest, plateau in the center, mountains in the west, and plains in the north. The government system is a multiparty presidential regime republic; the chief of state is the president, and the head of government is the prime minister. Cameroon has a mixed economic system which includes a variety of private freedom, combined with centralized economic planning and government regulation. Cameroon is a member of the Economic Community of Central African States (ECCAS).

Risk Assessment (Provided by Coface)

Country rating: C - A very uncertain political and economic outlook and a business environment with many troublesome weaknesses can have a significant impact on corporate payment behavior. Corporate default probability is high.

Business Climate rating: A1 - The business environment is very good. Corporate financial information is available and reliable. Debt collection is efficient. Institutional quality is very good. Intercompany transactions run smoothly in environments rated A1.

Strengths

- Diversified natural resources (oil, natural gas, iron, wood, cocoa, etc.)
- Development of gas capacities in a favorable short-term environment
- Strong hydroelectric potential
- Efforts to modernise transport infrastructure (ports, roads, railroads)
- Major player in the Central African Economic and Monetary Community (CEMAC) and the Economic Community of Central African States (ECCAS)
- CFA franc pegged to the euro, but limited common reserves at the Bank of Central African States (BEAC)

Weaknesses

- Unstable business environment, poor governance and endemic corruption
- Infrastructure deficit (energy, access to water, sanitation)
- External and public accounts dependent on commodity prices (especially a declining oil sector)
- Insufficient efforts to mobilise public revenue (14.5% of GDP in 2023)
- Insecurity in the west and north of the country (secessionist movements and terrorism)
- Succession of President Biya (91, in office since 1982) a source of political uncertainty
