

Introduction

Ghana is a country located in Western Africa. Neighboring countries include Burkina Faso, Cote d'Ivoire, Togo, and the Gulf of Guinea. Lake Volta, the largest artificial lake in the world, is located entirely within Ghana. The government system is a constitutional democracy. The chief of state and head of government is the President. Ghana has a mixed economic system in which the economy includes some private freedom, combined with weak centralized economic planning and government regulation. Ghana is a member of the African Union (AU), African Economic Community (AEC) and Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS).

Risk Assessment (Provided by Coface)

Country rating: B - Political and economic uncertainties and an occasionally difficult business environment can affect corporate payment behaviour. Corporate default probability is appreciable.

Business Climate rating: B - The business environment is mediocre. The availability and the reliability of corporate financial information vary widely. Debt collection can sometimes be difficult. The institutional framework has a few troublesome weaknesses. Intercompany transactions run appreciable risks in the unstable, largely inefficient environments rated B.

Strengths

- Considerable agricultural (cocoa) and mineral (oil, gold) resources
- Financial support (United Kingdom, United States, China and IMF)
- Institutional and political stability
- Freedom and security generally ensured
- Corruption reduced and good quality commercial information available

Weaknesses

- Infrastructure shortcomings (energy, transport)
- Dependence on raw materials prices (gold, oil, cocoa)
- Rapid increase in the deficit and in public debt
- Weak public banks, which affects the whole banking sector
