EBER JOURNAL

The concept of the Journal is to provide a broad and unified platform for revealing and spreading the economics and management research focusing on entrepreneurship, entrepreneur as well as particular and specific entrepreneurial aspects. It attempts to bridge the gap between the theory and practice in different sections of economics and management. The Journal is trying to link theory and practice by publishing different types of articles, including research papers, conceptual papers, literature reviews, or case studies. The Journal accept the articles from the following fields:

- Entrepreneurship and Human Capital (especially entrepreneurship and innovation, strategic entrepreneurship, corporate entrepreneurship, new trends in HRM and organizational behaviour),
- Management and Business Studies (especially entrepreneurial management, entrepreneurial business, modern trends in business studies and organization theory),
- International Business and International Economics (especially international entrepreneurship and new trends in international economics),
- Applied Economics and Statistics (especially the role of entrepreneurship and the entrepreneur in economics – microeconomics and macroeconomics, new trends in economics, current research in statistics and demography),
- Public Policies and Business Education (especially policies in favour of entrepreneurship, innovation, R&D and SMEs, education for entrepreneurship, new trends in social sciences)

Our journal is indexed on the IC Master Journals List (Index Copernicus International), BazEkon, CEEOL, ROAD, WorldCat, Econis, Econbiz, PBN and Arianta. All articles are available in both printed and electronic format (PDF) at our website.
