The University of Washington Bothell was established in 1990 as a campus within the University of Washington system. We are located 15 miles northeast of downtown Seattle in the center of the Pacific Northwest's exciting high-technology corridor between Microsoft and Boeing. We work closely with industry leaders as well as the smaller, innovative, and rapidly growing companies in software, electronic commerce, medical equipment, biotechnology, electronics, and aerospace. We have a relatively new, state of the art, high-tech campus, with a wireless network serving every building on campus, digital multimedia labs, and multimedia capabilities in all of the classrooms. Our MBA programs draw from companies such as Microsoft, Boeing, Expedia, Icos, Amgen, and Philips.
