

Introduction

Canada is a country in North America that extends from the Atlantic Ocean in the east, to the Pacific Ocean in the west, and the Arctic Ocean to the north. Canada borders the United States. The geography of Canada is mostly plains with mountains in the west. The government system is a parliamentary democracy, a federation, and a constitutional monarchy. The head of state is the queen of the United Kingdom, and the head of government is the prime minister of Canada. Canada has a market economic system in which the prices of goods and services are determined in a free price system. Canada is a member of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC), the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), and the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP).

Risk Assessment (Provided by Coface)

Country rating: A3 - Changes in generally good but somewhat volatile political and economic environment can affect corporate payment behavior. A basically secure business environment can nonetheless give rise to occasional difficulties for companies. Corporate default probability is quite acceptable on average.

Business Climate rating: A1 - The business environment is very good. Corporate financial information is available and reliable. Debt collection is efficient. Institutional quality is very good. Intercompany transactions run smoothly in environments rated A1.

Strengths

- Abundant and diversified energy and mineral resources
- World's fifth largest oil and gas producer
- Robust banking sector, well capitalised and rigorous supervision
- Serious nature of the budget
- Direct proximity with large US market
- All-out development of trade relations (CETA with the EU)
- Excellent business climate

Weaknesses

- Dependent on US economy (half of FDI stock, integration of both countries' automotive industries) and on energy prices
- Loss of competitiveness by manufacturing enterprises associated with weak labor productivity
- Inadequate R&D spending
- Decrease in the labor force, just slowed down by large-scale selective immigration
- High levels of household debt (165% of disposable income) / very high house prices
- Weakening energy exports due to inadequate supply pipelines to the United States and the US's own resources
