

Introduction

Liberia is located in Western Africa bordered by Sierra Leone, Guinea, Côte d'Ivoire, and the Atlantic Ocean. The government system is a republic; the chief of state and head of government is the president. Liberia is rebuilding a mixed economic system which includes a limited variety of private freedom, combined with weak centralized economic planning and government regulation. In addition, Liberia is a member of the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS).

Risk Assessment (Provided by Coface)

Country rating: D - A high-risk political and economic situation and an often very difficult business environment can have a very significant impact on corporate payment behavior. Corporate default probability is very high.

Business Climate rating: E - The highest possible risk in terms of business climate. Due to a lack of available financial information and an unpredictable legal system, doing business in this country is extremely difficult.

Strengths

- Diverse natural resources: iron, gold, rubber, cocoa, palm oil, timber, diamonds, oil
- Strong agricultural and forestry sector (36.5% of GDP)
- Financial support from the international community, particularly the United States
- Large expatriate remittances (5% of GDP in 2023)
- Member of the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS)
- Return to democracy, illustrated by the peaceful transition of presidential power in 2023
- Flag of convenience (15% of world cargo capacity)

Weaknesses

- Dependence on commodity prices
- Poor electricity and transport infrastructure
- Recent and fragile democracy, high level of corruption
- High levels of poverty and unemployment, weak education and healthcare systems
- Dependence on food imports, particularly rice
- Recent Ebola epidemic, possible recurrence
- Difficult business environment
- Weak monetary policy due to high dollarization and small banking system
- Use of Liberian-flagged vessels to serve countries under sanctions, such as Russia
