Introduction

Russia is a country located in northern Eurasia bordering the Arctic Ocean between Europe and the North Pacific Ocean. Neighboring countries include Azerbaijan, Belarus, China, Estonia, Finland, Georgia, Kazakhstan, North Korea, Latvia, Lithuania, Mongolia, Norway, Poland, and Ukraine. The geography is diverse and includes vast forests and tundra in Siberia and mountains along the southern borders. The government system is a federation; the chief of state is the president, and the head of government is the premier. Russia has transitioned from a centrally-planned economy to a more market-based economy in which many state-controlled firms have been privatized and sectors of the economy are liberalized. Russia is a member of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) and the Eurasian Economic Union (EAEU).

Risk Assessment (Provided by Coface)

Country rating: B - Political and economic uncertainties and an occasionally difficult business environment can affect corporate payment behavior. Corporate default probability is appreciable.

Business Climate rating: B - The business environment is mediocre. The availability and the reliability of corporate financial information vary widely. Debt collection can sometimes be difficult. The institutional framework has a few troublesome weaknesses. Intercompany transactions run appreciable risks in the unstable, largely inefficient environments rated B.

Strengths

- Abundant natural resources (oil, gas and metals)
- Floating of the ruble since November 2014
- Market size and skilled labor force (but shrinking population)
- Sound public and external accounts
- Efforts to clean up the banking sector

Weaknesses

- Dependent on hydrocarbon prices
- No trade agreements beyond immediate neighbors
- Dependent on foreign technology
- Poor infrastructure and lack of investment
- Heavy social security contributions favoring informal economy
- US and European sanctions hindering offshore field development and innovation
- Institutional and governance weaknesses (insolvency treatment, property rights, corruption)
