

Introduction

Serbia is a landlocked country located at the crossroads of Central and Southeastern Europe, covering the central part of the Balkans. Serbia is bordered by Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Croatia, Hungary, Kosovo, Macedonia, Montenegro, and Romania. The geography of Serbia is varied and includes fertile plains, limestone ranges, and in the southeast:

the Dinaric Alps and the Carpathian Mountain range. The government system is a republic; the chief of state is the president, and the head of government is the prime minister. Serbia has a mixed economic system in which the presence of the state in the economy is considerable, but there is limited private sector freedom. Serbia is a member of the Central European Free Trade Agreement (CEFTA).

Risk Assessment (Provided by Coface)

Country rating: C - A very uncertain political and economic outlook and a business environment with many troublesome weaknesses can have a significant impact on corporate payment behavior. Corporate default probability is high.

Business Climate rating: A4 - The business environment is acceptable. Corporate financial information is sometimes neither readily available nor sufficiently reliable. Debt collection is not always efficient and the institutional framework has shortcomings. Intercompany transactions may thus run into appreciable difficulties in the acceptable but occasionally unstable environments rated A4.

Strengths

- Stabilisation and Association Agreement with the EU allowing 93% of Serbian products to enter without customs duties
- Public sector reform in coordination with the IMF
- Natural resources (coal, copper, zinc, lead, bauxite, gold, silver, lithium), but under-explored; significant cereal, vegetable and fruit production
- Rising automotive industry
- Participation in the Belt and Road initiative

Weaknesses

- Energy-dependent on Russia
- Progress on EU accession still limited by EU concerns over rule of law, status of Kosovo and links with Russia
- Lengthy judicial procedures, customs harassment, corruption, lack of government transparency
- Large informal sector
- Public sector in deficit despite reforms (particularly energy)
