

Introduction

Sudan is a country located in Northern Africa bordering the Red Sea. Neighboring countries include the Central African Republic, Chad, Egypt, Eritrea, Ethiopia, Libya, and South Sudan. The geography of Sudan is generally flat, with mountains in the east and west and annual flooding in the south due to the Nile River system. The government system is a federal republic; the chief of state and head of government is the president. Sudan has a largely traditional economy in which most citizens rely on agriculture, and there is limited central planning by the government. Sudan is a member of the League of Arab States (Arab League) and the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA).

Risk Assessment (Provided by Coface)

Country rating: E - The highest-risk political and economic situation and the most difficult business environment.

Corporate default is likely.

Business Climate rating: E - The highest possible risk in terms of business climate. Due to a lack of available financial information and an unpredictable legal system, doing business in this country is extremely difficult.

Strengths

- Gold and oil resources, Red Sea ports
- Geographical and economic proximity to the Gulf States
- Agriculture and livestock farming could benefit from productivity gains, thanks in particular to investors from the Gulf
- Normalising relations with South Sudan, thereby facilitating the continued payment of transit duties on oil pipelines

Weaknesses

- Political instability since the overthrow of dictator el-Bechir in 2019, the military coup in 2021 and the internal armed conflict since April 2023.
- Inter-community violence in the southern regions, marked by the presence of militias, particularly in Darfur, Kordofan and Blue Nile; fighting fuelled by the armed conflict
- Poverty (35.7%), high unemployment (33% in early 2023), insecurity, dependence on food aid, risk of famine (40% of the population will suffer acute food insecurity in 2024)
- Unsustainable external debt exacerbated by the suspension of international financial aid and extremely low foreign exchange reserves
- Currency depreciation and hyperinflation
- The country is heading for partition
