

Introduction

Zambia is a landlocked country located in Southern Africa. Neighboring countries include Angola, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Malawi, Mozambique, Namibia, Tanzania, and Zimbabwe. The geography of Zambia is mostly high plateau with some mountains. The government system is a republic; the chief of state and head of government is the president. Zambia has a mixed economy in which there is a variety of private freedom, combined with centralized economic planning and government regulation. Zambia is a member of the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA) and the Southern African Development Community (SADC).

Risk Assessment (Provided by Coface)

Country rating: D - A high-risk political and economic situation and an often very difficult business environment can have a very significant impact on corporate payment behavior. Corporate default probability is very high.

Business Climate rating: C - The business environment is difficult. Corporate financial information is often unavailable and when available often unreliable. Debt collection is unpredictable. The institutional framework has many troublesome weaknesses. Intercompany transactions run major risks in the difficult environments rated C.

Strengths

- Mining production (copper, sulfur, cobalt, nickel) and potential (uranium, gold, diamonds, manganese)
- Agricultural wealth (corn, tobacco, sugar cane)
- Large share of hydroelectric power generation (85%)
- Growing tourism (20 national parks)
- Democratic transition in 2021

Weaknesses

- Dependence on copper, further accentuated by the dependence on China, the second-largest importer of ore behind Switzerland and its traders
- Sovereign default in 2020 and unsustainable external debt
- Landlocked and dependent on the transport routes of neighbouring countries
- Electricity production is based almost exclusively on hydropower; transport networks are unreliable
- High levels of inequality and corruption; health, education, and administrative shortcomings; poverty affecting 61.5% of the population in 2023
- Vulnerability to climate change
